About SEN TALK CIC

SEN TALK CIC, a non-profit organisation established in 2016, supports Neurodivergent children, young people, and their families. The organisation offers a range of focused activities, both online and in person, aimed at improving outcomes for Autistic and ADHD children and young people. These activities also focus on improving family well-being and providing caregivers pastoral support, advice, and guidance. Initially based in Wandsworth, Southwest London, the organisation is now transitioning to Hampshire, where its impactful activities and leading organisation will be established. This transition is a significant step in our mission to reach and support more families.

In the UK, Neurodivergent children and young people, particularly those with Autism Spectrum Conditions (ASC) and ADHD, statistically achieve lower educational outcomes compared to their neurotypical peers. They are also at a significantly higher risk of experiencing adverse outcomes later in life, including poorer mental health, exclusion, and social isolation. These factors can profoundly impact their well-being and their families' quality of life.

SEN TALK's Mission is to significantly reduce adverse outcomes and provide unique opportunities for Neurodivergent children and young people to develop skills, enhance well-being, and foster community belonging.

Our AIMS are to:

- Increase parents' capacity to address the knowledge gap for Neurodiversity and empower families to advocate for their child or young person.
- Support children and young people in developing skills that help them overcome learning barriers and improve well-being.
- Build communities that foster a sense of belonging, advocating for young people and parent carer's voices, placing value on lived experience.
- Support young people in preparing for the future and reaching their desired goals in different areas of their lives.

About the role

We seek a passionate volunteer to join us in our fundraising efforts for SEN TALK CIC. This role is an exciting opportunity to make a difference by helping to organise events, collect donations, and raise vital awareness within the community. If you have experience writing small grant proposals and running successful fundraising campaigns, we would love to have you on our team.

Volunteers are the driving force behind charitable organisations, and your involvement can significantly impact our mission. By contributing your time and skills, you can help us make a lasting change in our community. Join us today!

SEN TALK CIC is dedicated to a Neuro-Affirming approach, and the entire team needs to have a solid understanding of autism and ADHD. Volunteers will receive thorough training and support at SEN TALK CIC, making this an excellent opportunity for anyone looking to enhance their skills. You will work positively and proactively to provide person-centred support, collaborating with colleagues to ensure the greatest impact.

If you are interested in applying for this opportunity, please email our team at info@sentalk.org for further guidance.
